HEROClix GOLDEN RULES

- Replace then Modify – When more than one effect would change a combat value, apply all replacements that use a specific number, then apply all replacements that multiply or divide, then apply the sum of all +/- modifiers. Values that would be less than 0 are instead 0.
- Occupancy – Two or more characters can never occupy the same square. If a non-optional effect would place two characters into the same square, the opponent chooses a square that is as close as possible to the specified square for the character to be placed instead.
- Action Tokens – No effect can result in more than two action tokens on a character.
- Active Player – When it's your turn you are the active player. The active player chooses the order to resolve effects that would happen at the same time.
- Minimums and Maximums – If a final value would be less than a listed Minimum, use the Minimum value instead. If a final value would be more than the Maximum, use the Maximum value instead.
